British media firm One News Page Ltd, owners of global news portal www.onenewspage.com, is today launching a UK news website, www.onenewspage.co.uk.

The site features live news headlines from 300 trusted UK news sources including all the leading daily news providers such as The Times, Guardian, Independent, Telegraph, the Daily Mail and the BBC.

At launch, there is already a searchable archive of more than 1.3 million news headlines, from November 2008 to date. Each day, approximately 6,000 new stories are added to the archive.

OneNewsPage.co.uk offers a convenient way to discover and access latest news stories on a number of topics, including current affairs, business and finance, politics, sports, celebrity, science and technology.

In addition to OneNewsPage.co.uk, One News Page Ltd will be rolling out a series of English language news headlines sites in the next few weeks. There will be new sites serving Australia, India, and the United States of America. A Spanish language site is also to be launched in the first half of 2010.

One News Page Ltd. officially launched its first site, the global news headline portal www.onenewspage.com in May 2009, and also launched a German language site www.onenewspage.de this November.

All One News Page sites are entirely free of charge to users, and intend to remain so for the foreseeable future.

Dr Marc Pinter-Krainer, founder of One News Page, says

“Www.onenewspage.co.uk is a domestic version of our global site, featuring the latest news headlines relevant to most UK readers. The new site results from soundings we took from potential users who responded positively to the idea of English language sites that cater solely to their domestic news markets. Therefore we are proudly launching today OneNewsPage.co.uk and look forward to a rapid roll out of our other new sites in the coming weeks.”
